the opinion of the Medical Specialist, Military Hospital, Meerut, that the most likely cause of death of Km. Mun Mun Sarkar, on 5th June, 1992 at the NCC Camp held at Ganeshpur in Meerut District, was acute viral encephalities. The Court has ruled out food poisoning, heat stioke/exbaution and dehydration as likely cause? of death. The Court has also found that the quality of food served and the, living facilities at the Camp were satisfactory.

(d) The Camp was originally planned at Ganeshpur. Subsequently, Sabntu in Solan was proposed as a possible site for this Camp. However, it had fo be rejected due to unsiutability of the sites and lack of water.

(e) The details are given in the Statement enclosed. (See below).

(f) At the Camp, one Ml Room was established with a full-time Nursing Assistant. Cadets needing further medical assistance were to be referred to Community Health Centre .(Civil Hospital) at Ma wan::, located approx 6 Kms from the Crtmp site. The Medical Superintendent at the Community Health Centre possessed the qualificr-.tion of MBBS find AID. A dedicated vehicle was available for transporting sick Cadets to the Centre, round the clock. Cadets needing specialised Medical attention were to be moved to the Military Hospital, Meerut.

(g) NCC Cadets dying while involved in NCC activities are covered by an insurance of Rs. 1 lakh. Of this. Rs. i 0.000 has been given to the father of the deceased Cadet as immediate relief. The balance amount is being disbursed.
